SUSPECT UNDER GUARD IN OHIO BANK ROBBERY

Wounded Man in Martins Ferry Hospital Linked to Holdup at Franklin.

By The Associated Press

MARTINS FERRY, O., Dec. 6—Police guarded in a hospital today a wounded man the chief of Ohio's criminal identification bureau said he felt positive he could identify as one of two bandits routed by bullets in a Franklin, O., bank robbery in which their companion was killed.

Howard G. Robinson, chief of the investigation bureau, was enroute here from London, O., with witnesses and fingerprint samples. He said "I feel sure I can complete the identification."

Police questioned intermittently throughout the night a man who was brought to the hospital here about 9 o'clock. He registered as James N. Gault, about 22, of Yorkville.

Says His Gun Went Off

Gault, shot in the shoulder, told police he was wounded accidentally when he slipped on the ice and his gun discharged. A companion who brought him to the hospital left without identifying himself.

Robinson said he had information concerning the second man and that his agents "might arrest him anytime."

Frank Morelli, a Springfield man, Robinson said, provided further evidence, pointing to Gault as one of the bandits. Morelli said one of the men who forced him at gunpoint to drive him from Yellow Springs to Columbus, was known as "Jimmy."

"I feel positive that Gault is the right man," Robinson asserted. "We have been working on the case all night. We got information which led to a guard being placed over him.

May Solve Holdup Series

"After we question him I believe we're going to find out a whole lot about some recent robberies in eastern Ohio. This gang might have been connected with a $2,200 holdup of a restaurant in Zanesville."

Accompanying Robinson was Police Chief Roy Scofield and Lieut. Thomas Carmody of Middletown, and Asha Pingleton and Paul Clark, Jr., both of Middletown.

Pingleton and Clark, automobile sales representatives, were hoaxed into demonstrating two automobiles, forced to drive to a shack near Franklin, where they were bound with wire and gagged.

The bandits then went to Franklin to conduct the robbery.

Robinson identified the slain bandit as Thomas Lee and said he formerly lived in Barrytown, N. Y. Robinson said the man had a criminal record and "I believe he was a member or the leader of an organized gang."

Chief Doubts Guilt

Although Police Chief Wesley Muhleman of Martins Ferry expressed belief the man was not shot in the robbery, he continued the investigation.

Chief Muhleman said he learned Joseph Viola took Gault to the hospital at the request of Gault's mother, Mrs. Patrick Toulaine. He said they supported Gault's version of the shooting.

Leaving a companion, dead, at the scene, the pair of robbers escaped with $2,800 from the Franklin National bank of Franklin, O., yesterday. Before and after the robbery they kidnaped and held as hostages seven persons, two of them women. The last, Morelli, a Springfield orchestra leader, they released in Columbus, after a wild, bloody ride over southwestern Ohio.

Carried Women's Clothes

Warren County Coroner H. M. Williams of Franklin said the dead man carried a complete outfit of women's clothing, including underclothing and a wig. He was wearing women's silk hose.

Five department of justice agents investigated but denied there was a "chance it's Thomas H. Robinson," Robinson, accused and widely sought kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville, has been known to masquerade in women's clothes.

Morelli said one of the robbers, "Jimmy," had been wounded in the arm, apparently in the same blast from Franklin Village Marshal William E. Graham, that killed the man left behind. A bill of sale in his pocket bore the name of Thomas Lee of New Concord.

State highway patrolmen kept a close watch on all eastern Ohio routes. The patrol said the men were believed heading for Bridgeport, just this side of the Ohio river from Wheeling.

Snatches Auto Key

Quick thinking by a middle-aged electrician, Virgil Groves, temporarily blocked the gunmen's escape plans in Franklin. He saw

Selassie Palace Bombed But King Uninjured As Italy Launches Big Drive

Major and Nurse in Red Cross Tent Wounded; 12 Reported Killed.

U. S. HOSPITAL HIT

Institution Is Partially Wrecked; Evacuated Just Before Raid.

BY HENRY CASSIDY,
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Italy struck directly at the heart of Ethiopia today, bombing Emperor Selassie's palace in Dessye.

The emperor himself escaped the rain of death from the sky but occupants of a Red Cross hospital tent were not so fortunate. A Belgian major and a Norwegian nurse were wounded.

The palace itself was destroyed. Part of the American Seventh-Day Adventists hospital was wrecked.

Twelve persons were reported killed and nearly 200 wounded in the raid. The nine planes dropped more than 1,000 bombs.

Evacuated Before Raid

The American hospital, through the presence of mind of its director, was evacuated a few minutes before the raiding planes appeared overhead.

However, the beds, surgical instruments, operating table, and other equipment were strewn all over the place by the blasts of three bombs which pierced the corrugated iron roof.

Although the emperor was not in his palace, he was not dodging the raid. He personally seized a machine gun and fired at the attack group.

The Associated Press correspondent saw many women and children among those who were killed and wounded.

Georges Goyon, the Havas News Agency correspondent, was seriously wounded in one knee.

The air raid was part of a sudden intensification of hostilities in the war between Italy and Ethiopia.

An official Italian communique reported 24 Ethiopians and three Italians died in "intensified" combat between patrols all along the northern front.

The sudden outbreak of hostilities, two months after the start of the war and following weeks of concentrations and consolidation of positions, was interpreted by Italian officers in the field as marking the start of the first major Ethiopian offensive.

Claims Foe Put to Flight

Everywhere on the northern front, the Italian government communique said, the Ethiopians were put to flight.

Advices from Makale itself, center of Italy's front lines, however, indicated the Ethiopians were making swift thrusts on towns and supply trains, dealing out punishment behind the Italian lines and then withdrawing temporarily.

These swift developments started at the very time that France's Premier Laval was dispatching final Franco-British "suggestions" for peace to Premier Mussolin before

TWO MEN HELD BY POLICE HERE

$2,250 in Cash Found in Possession of Pair Arrested on Suspicion.

N. J. ANSWERS BROADCAST

Name of One Corresponds to That of Man Accused in Eastern City.

Two men, with approximately $2,250 in their possession, who gave their addresses as New York City, are being held for questioning today by Marion police following their arrest on suspicion early this morning.

The men gave their names as Arthur J. Lewis, 41, of the Bronx, N. Y., and Thomas A. Naylor, 35, of New York City. Naylor was taken into custody by Night Capt. Ora DeWees shortly after 4 a. m. after he had checked out of Hotel Harding, and Lewis was arrested in their hotel room a short time later.

When arrested Naylor had all but $40 of the $2,250 on his person and in his luggage, police said. Lewis had the $40.

Police today were questioning the men in regard to the large amount of money they were carrying, most of which was in a money sack. A message telling of their arrest was broadcast over the state highway patrol radio facilities and relayed to police radio systems in the eastern part of the country.

Shortly after noon police here received a telegram signed by Ernest Burdge, chief county detective of Toms River, Ocean county, New Jersey, reading, "Hold Arthur Lewis charged with embezzlement of $2,562 from Hotel Grossman."

The majority of the money was in bills of five, 10 and 20 dollar denominations. The remainder included one $100 bill, more than $6 in pennies and a quantity of silver.

Lewis and Naylor registered at the Harding early last night. Su-

ROGERS' GIFTS TO BE BOOSTED

Contribution Box Will Be Placed in Theater, Any Amount Welcome

New impetus was given the Will Rogers Memorial campaign in Marion county today when J J Huebner manager of the Ohio theater announced that he theater will act as a depository for contributions and is making preparations to show a benefit motion picture a part of the proceeds of which will go into the drive fund

Because those in charge of the national and county campaign have felt that admirers of the cowboy humorist who could contribute only small sums are reluctant to make their contributions at one of the banks in the county a box is being placed in the lobby of the Ohio theater today that will receive gifts of any denominations from pennies up

The box is being placed in the lobby on the closing day of the showing of Will Rogers last picture In Old Kentucky

Although Mr Huebner has not yet announced the title of the benefit picture and the date of its showing he said he is considering one of the outstanding films of 1935 and that he probably will set the date to come within the next week or 10 days The campaign is scheduled to close Dec 14

Meanwhile banks in the county reported contributions coming in although Marion county is behind in the support it was expected to give the campaign Fred W Warner county campaign chairman said today he is working on arrangements to speed up the drive

Mr Warner commented on the reluctance of too many people to subscribe to the fund because they could not give a large sum The pennies of school children and the dimes of office clerks and laborers are just as acceptable and desirable as larger donations from companies and individuals able to give more he declared These donations are to represent a cross section of the public to which Will Rogers gave untold pleasure He urged people to get their contributions to banks and to the Ohio theater as soon as possible

BANK ROBBERY SCENE AND MEN WHO BATTLED BANDITS

At the top is pictured the scene outside the Franklin, O., National bank yesterday following a holdup by three bandits. Bullets from the gun of Marshal William E. Graham (below at right) greeted them as they emerged from the bank and one of them was killed. The other two robbers fled, dropping most of approximately $8,000 they had scooped from the bank counters. Below at the left is pictured Virgil Groves, electrician, who spoiled the bandits' plans when he took the ignition key from their automobile. When Marshal Graham was wounded in the ear in his battle with the fleeing bandits, Groves picked up the dead robber's gun and gave chase. (Associated Press Photos)

DIGEST POLL SHOWS DIXIE FOR NEW DEAL

Florida Reported Hostile by Narrow Margin; East and West Opposed.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—Twenty-four hours after Postmaster General James A. Farley's prediction that President Roosevelt will carry as many states in 1936 as he did in 1932, or even more, the Literary Digest today made public another tabulation in its nation-wide poll on new deal policies showing only southern states remaining loyal to the administration.

Even one of the southern states, Florida, is recorded by a narrow margin as hostile to the new deal.

This 10,000,000 ballot poll on the question of approval or disapproval of the policies of the Roosevelt new deal to date is not such a direct test as would be a poll next year after the Republicans have nominated a candidate and written a platform.

Nevertheless, on the face of this Nevertheless, on the face of this both east and west disapprove of the administration's policies, and therefore inferentially stand ready to vote for other policies in next year's election.

New England jumped into the poll in a big way today when first tabulations from Massachusetts showed 716 votes in favor of Roosevelt policies to 2,646 against them, the heaviest negative vote by any of the 18 states thus far reporting in the poll.

STRIKE AT GALION PLANT IS SETTLED

Walkout of 200 Ends With Agreement Between Employers and Employes.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 6—The strike of 200 workers at the Central Ohio Steel Products Co., known also as the National Grave Vault Co., was ended today when an agreement was reached between employes and the management.

G. L. Stiefel president and general manager of the company signed the agreement this morning members of the strike committee announced.

The agreement provides that all workers will return to their duties at the shop Monday at their former wage scale against which they have been protesting. This scale is to continue until each position in the plant is checked by an efficiency man to determine what the wage of the employes will be in the future.

Recent wage cuts are said to have been decided upon after a recent check by the same efficiency man. On the new check a representative of the employes will accompany the efficiency man and participate in the survey. Employes say they expect many wage cuts to be restored as a result of the re-check. Other sections in the agreement provide that no employe shall be dismissed as a result of his participation in the strike and that there shall be no ill feeling between employes and the management.

A few of the 200 employes returned to work today to make preliminary arrangements for the resumption of operations.

The agreement was reached at a conference Thursday between representatives of the workers and the management. Employes said that when work is resumed at the plant the shop will be 100 per cent unionized. They said a representative of the American Federation of Labor and a government representative were present at Thursday's conference.

Pickets have been stationed at the plant since last Monday when employes refused to go to work because of wage cuts. Objection also was made to a continuous conveyor system installed in the factory recently.

Col. Knox and the Bonus.

It is a puzzling attitude which Col. Frank Knox, only really active candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has taken on the question of pre-payment of the veterans' bonus.

Col. Knox is opposed to pre-payment of the bonus as a matter of personal principle. He is opposed to pre-payment, also, as a matter of Republican principle. Yet, he favors payment.

His reasoning is set forth in a letter to Henry H. Curran of the National Economy league. The letter says:

"For years....I opposed pre-payment of the bonus. My attitude on the question never changed until it became the outspoken policy of the present administration to indulge in what they described as pump priming...With this policy of reckless expenditure the rule, the ground for opposition to pre-payment of the bonus on the basis of economy was destroyed...I am also entirely conscious of the fact that it would subtract $2,000,000,000 from the $4,800,000,000 relief funds which Jim Farley is going to try to use to maintain the present administration in office. If, however....this spending administration does not authorize the pre-payment of the bonus, and a Republican administration should succeed it, whatever influence I might have would be exerted to a maximum in favor of...deferring any demand for pre-payment of the bonus."

This is a really remarkable statement which raises many questions. One of them which Col. Knox doesn't attempt to answer is this: How does he know the bonus would be paid from the work relief appropriation? Apparently, no one else knows it, least of all the officials of the Roosevelt administration, who are talking about adding another two billion dollars to the national debts by paying the bonus in federal bonds.

A Phrase for It.

Gradually, out of innumerable speculations and a few dependable opinions, the country is choosing a phrase to describe Herbert Hoover's position in relation to the Republican presidential nomination. Mr. Hoover, it is believed, is willing but dubious. That is, he would accept the nomination if it were to be given to him, but he has no reason to believe it is going to be given to him.

It may be a waste of time to discuss Mr. Hoover's present political status, but by trying to understand it one is helped toward an understanding of the Republican party's condition. Thus, if Mr. Hoover knows he would be handicapped as a presidential candidate by the same resentments which flared up against him in 1932, he must know that the Republican party, itself, will be handicapped if it attempts to conduct a campaign with the material of 1932.

Mr. Hoover, until his party selects a presidential candidate, is the Republican leader. He is performing the duty of his office by encouraging his party to oppose the Democratic party. There is nothing in the two-party theory which does not demand exactly what Mr. Hoover is doing. He is leading an attack against the opposition. He is challenging it to defend itself, to justify its policies and to prove to voters that it is worthy of support. If Mr. Hoover were to do any less, he would be guilty of nonfeasance in the important political position which he holds. His activities as party leader should be considered apart from whatever hope he may have of being the Republican presidential candidate.

Remedy.

A national survey by United Press shows 46 football fatalities during the recent season. The total is equal to that of 1931, when a post-season reform movement to make football safer originated in the public's frightened reaction.

Theoretically, football is safer than it was in 1931. Changes in the rules have decreased the probability of injury which once made the game the property of gladiators in moleskins. But football still is far from being as safe as it could be.

Statistics on fatalities reveal that high school and sandlot football players are injured in the largest numbers. That is explained by the fact that more boys play high school and sandlot football than college football. The usual claim, that college players are better equipped and better trained, is worth consideration, but it does not give college football a clean bill of health.

The only remedy to make football safer is to elevate by persistent education the standards of football safety. There isn't much to be accomplished by revising rules. Football is a game of contact, and rules cannot determine to any great extent the nature of contact.

However, coaches, who are the natural guardians of the game, can encourage safety by greater attention to elimination of avoidable hazards—inferior equipment, over-exertion, unequal contests and unnecessary roughness. Obviously, the remedy is neither easy nor is it a panacea. Football coaches and players, themselves, must recognize it, however, as the only means of minimizing the stigma imposed on football by fatalities. It never will be a perfectly safe game, but it can be made safer.

Still An Open Question.

Ohio, facing an acutely dangerous situation as the result of direct relief's termination the first of this month, can't find much consolation in reports that fully one-third of the 48 states are in worse condition than it is in. That would require more of the sugary spirit of Pollyanna than can be expected.

The shock and strain of the transition from a policy of direct relief to one of work relief are the result of a method of forcing. The transition is artificial. It isn't unlikely that the ultimate result will have the shortcomings of artificiality. Far from being disposed of finally, the national question of an unemployment relief policy has been made more difficult.

It is by no means certain that the present arrangement will become more satisfactory with age. The issue undoubtedly will be thrown wide open in the next session of congress, which gave its approval only a little more than a year ago to the policy now being put into effect with so much difficulty. The United States still is fumbling for a solution. Brief experience with work relief has not convinced the general public of the superiority claimed for it by a few zealous advocates.

The trend of thinking seems to run increasingly toward a revival of local authority over relief expenditures. A constantly larger amount of favor is being given proposals for apportionment of the federal government's unemployment relief funds among the states. State relief authorities would distribute the money thereafter on their own responsibility. Ohio residents will recall that this was Gov. Davey's contention in his dispute last spring with Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins. It was suspected at the time that Gov. Davey was reluctant to have Mr. Hopkins handling money which the Davey administration wanted to handle for doubtful purposes. Subsequent experience indicates that too much faith was put into the intelligence and disinterestedness of the federal government.

You Can't Say That.

The time for departmental reports of the federal government is here again. Whoever he is, the fellow who reads them is beginning his busy season. Government reports are measured by poundage, instead of pages. In the mass they weigh tons.

The navy department's report was sent to theoretically interested parties a few days ago. It wasn't necessary to read it to know what the gist of Secretary Swanson's remarks was going to be. Someone who did read has verified the supposition that Mr. Swanson would have the following ideas:

1—That the U. S. navy at present is too small.

2—That the U. S. navy should be increased.

3—That the U. S. navy doesn't have enough men.

4—That the U. S. navy should have more men.

Some day, there will be by accident a different secretary of the navy, or of some other department; it isn't only navy secretaries who invariably report that more equipment, more men and more everything must be made available immediately for the sake of the nation.

The "different" secretary will report that, though others are asking for more, he doesn't agree with them and that he thinks it would be an excellent idea to cut down on the next appropriation. As was pointed out in the preceding paragraph, however, such a secretary would be an accident, and it would follow in the natural course of events that any such heresy as a report suggesting retrenchment or even maintenance of things at existing levels would be suppressed immediately.

PIONEER PHYSICIAN

One of the pioneer medical men of Marion county was Dr. George Halloway, who came here from Massachusetts in 1823 and located in Marion. His practice soon extended for miles around, as he was quite successful.

The mode of travel was still confined to the saddle as the roads were new and rugged, often mere paths running through the forest, marked by "blazed trees" as guides to the proper course. The diseases of this country in those days were principally of a bilious character and "milk sickness" or "trimbles."

In the former class of disease, the torpid liver had to be aroused and Dr. Halloway's favorite prescription for this purpose was calomel in heroic doses, generally 40 grains, repeated in from four to six hours. In the treatment of milk sickness the doctor also enjoyed a good reputation and the typical old saddle bags were familiar to nearly every family.

One of the exciting actors of the season has been the red and tousel headed Burgess Meredith. He kept a flop play open awhile by sheer force of dramatic vitality. Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

Fire swept a section of the Portsmouth, O., business district with damage estimated at $1,000,000.

Revival services which had been in progress at Calvary Evangelical church for three weeks came to a close with a record of more than 100 conversions.

Miss Lena Mae King and Lee Roy Weston, both of Marion, were united in marriage at Forest Lawn church by the pastor, Rev. Alfred W. Swan.

The Powell Sunday school class of Epworth M. E. church elected officers headed by L. D. Kotner as president and M. E. Hill as teacher.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Mnday, Dec. 6, 1915.

Former Secretary of State Bryan had made a demand upon President Wilson to act immediately for the purpose of ending the war in Europe. Bryan's action was causing grave concern among administration officials, who saw in it a portent of an open break between the two men, recognized as the Democratic party leaders.

The Braves were leading the Y. M. C. A. bowling league with 18 games won out of 27 played. McRill of the Indians was high scorer with an average of 187 in 24 games.

Miss Marguerite Hinklin was elected editor of the Quiver, Harding High school publication, at a meeting of the junior class.

Arrangements for building an addition to Epworth M. E. church to accommodate increasing Sunday school attendance were made at a meeting of the church board. A committee consisting of Dr. Jesse Swank, W. T. Jones, W. B. Denman, George P. Von Stein and John H. Bain were appointed a committee to plan for the improvement.

The Marion Question basketball team opened the season on the local court in Schwinger's hall by defeating Bucyrus, 96 to 13. Fletcher starred for Marion with 19 field goals.

Behind The News In

Washington and Wall Street

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—The war between President Roosevelt and the bankers seems to be making more noise and less sense. Headlines daily scream of shot and shell exchanged between them. Mr. Roosevelt implies in a speech that at least a few of them were faintly foolish about the federal debt ceiling. Their reply is anonymous but to the scathing effect that the President might be a flibber about what they told him.

The bankers haze Gov. Eccles of the federal reserve board politely at their convention. He starts talking out of turn about the stock market. His advisory committee of big bankers lets slip surreptitiously to the press a report warning Eccles about his credit policy. He shoots back with a signed story.

The casual onlooker will suspect they are getting ready to sever each other's heads. The casualty list might logically be expected to exceed that of the tit-tat-toe conflict between Italy and Ethiopia.

But at the height of the battle, with the publicity din terrific, the treasury G. H. Q. issues a routine communique to the effect that the enemy has oversubscribed by four times an increase of nearly a billion dollars of the federal debt which has caused all the fighting.

Obviously, Gen. Sherman was wrong. War appears to be what you make it.

Truce?

Undoubtedly, there must have been some recent consultation between the belligerents under the ammunition wagon. Reports exist in very good financial quarters that the war is over and a truce has been signed. That may be overstating the situation, but this much is certain:

The bankers got ¼ of 1 per cent more out of this last treasury financing, which is about twice what Mr. Morgenthau was ladling out in lentil soup commissions a few months ago. At least, there was no auction bidding on the issue, and the interest rate set by Mr. Morgenthau was considered by trustworthy bond authorities to have been ¼ of 1 per cent more than the zero point at which the issue might have been successful. This will be denied, of course, but the fact is irrefutable that Mr. Morgenthau sweetened the soup to some extent.

Few bond authorities will quarrel with Mr. Morgenthau about that. The auction bidding system and previous rates were undoubtedly too thin.

Consideration

The result, at any rate, is that Mr. Morgenthau and the bankers, who are holding his debt bag, appear to be closer together than they have been within a year. The understanding between them is such that most non-partisan bond authorities are now saying that he can finance any amounts reasonably necessary in the immediate future. His last big refinancing is over.

Whether that means political peace is another matter. Whether the truce includes an understanding about government policy toward excess reserves and credit is something that even Washington clairvoyants do not know.

Most men whose judgment is worth anything here doubt it. At the same time they expect a sympathetic, non-radical handling of the current banking problems by the central bank now disguised as a federal reserve board.

Push

No. 1 item on the administration program for the coming session of congress is to be neutrality. It is generally understood inside the state department now that Mr. Roosevelt will give it heavy play in his message, stressing the need of speed. Already bon ton diplomats downtown have begun to work with Senator Bone of the munitions committee on preparation of the new legislation. Bone will champion it. This move apparently is not based on any inside diplomatic dope that war is imminent, beyond that already published. In fact, the bon tons are silently praying that the war scare will hold out long enough to force congress to extend their authority.

Add Wrath

Latest to encounter the wrath of State Secretary Hull is contrite Mr. Ickes, secretary of interior. Some of Mr. Hull's friends say it will require two weeks for our diplomats abroad to straighten out the misunderstandings caused by Mr. Ickes' latest renunciation of his oil embargo appeal.

BY JAMES McMULLIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Informed New Yorkers say that George Peek is quitting the administration for the purpose of taking the same sort of critical position with regard to his agricultural policy as Lew Douglas has taken on financial affairs. He is expected to attack the new deal farm measures from the viewpoint of a "friend" who is regretfully compelled to tell unpalatable truths.

Sources who should know say that Peek was in there from the begining to put over as much as he could, to hang on as long as possible and to gather all available information which might be useful as ammunition to help beat President Roosevelt when he finally retired. He campaigned well for Roosevelt in the farm districts in 1932, but he always represented a crowd fundamentally hostile to the new deal. There was never any chance that he would stick to the finish unless by some miracle the 1933 "era of good feeling"—when Roosevelt was more or less regarded as above politics—had been perpetuated indefinitely. Peek lasted quite a while at that—but the Canadian trade treaty showed so clearly that Hull was on top that his position became untenable.

Astute observers remark that the fact that Hull had to put up with Peek for so long indicated how much Roosevelt and how little Hull there has really been in the state department. Hull has been in somewhat the spot of a corporation president with an executive vice president of different ideas whom he couldn't fire.

Rocks

Now that Peek is out an effective anti-new deal triangle composed of ex-members of the administration is just about set for an intensive barrage.

Peek will attack from the agricultural corner, Douglas from the financial. Hugh Johnson is doing all right from the industrial angle, but insiders understand he will soon be abetted in this quarter by others who will retire more in sorrow than anger.

These men were all put into the administration by forces willing to ride the Roosevelt chariot as long as it was free-wheeling but ready to hop off and throw rocks as soon as the going started to get rough. Their shots should be the more accurate for their inside knowledge of crevices in the armor.

Revamped

The supreme court decision on the Guffey Act will have an important bearing on John L. Lewis' drive for control of the Federation of Labor.

If the Guffey law is declared constitutional it will undoubtedly be followed (assuming Mr. Roosevelt's reelection) by a number of similar statutory codes for other industries. These would offer an ideal background for the building up of industrial unions on the United Mine Workers model and give additional impetus to Lewis' campaign.

The construction industry is keeping a close eye on the Lewis-Green battle. It has suffered more than any other from the jurisdictional jealousies of craft unions. Plenty of contractors have added to their cussing vocabulary in arguments about why electricians aren't allowed to do a little incidental carpentry or why plumbers mustn't touch a brick. Of course the building trades unions are among the strongest of the craft organizations and it will be a matter of years at least before they could be revamped to a vertical setup where contractors would have only one union to deal with—but there's no harm hoping.

Inevitable

One reason Premier Laval of France has been getting a hand from politicians who would normally be delighted to dump him on his ear is because nobody else wants the load of grief that goes with the job. In particular, this is why ex-Premier Edouard Herriot has been trying so hard to keep his party on the Laval bandwagon. He would like to be the big shot again—but not just now, thank you.

Well-posted New Yorkers learn that Laval himself has an odd slant on the financial crisis. He is more than half convinced that devaluation of the franc is necessary—but he has fought so long to "defend" it he doesn't want to take the responsibility for such a move. So he is said to be toying with the idea of maneuvering his own defeat on financial issues, allowing some one else to take the necessary onus of abandoning the gold standard and then riding back to power on the wave of popular indignation which would greet this "betrayal" of the franc. He'd get all the benefits of a readjusted currency and none of the blame.

Shrewd observers remark that there's just one flaw in that inspiration—the indignation might not materialize. A somewhat similar situation existed in Belgium before that nation went off gold. But the benefits of revaluation there were so immediate and impressive that public and political sentiment rallied quickly in support of the cabinet that had made the change. It's still in power and going strong. Predictions from the French Riviera of a banner season this winter are taken as a sign that the French are realistic about the inevitability of devaluation. A banner season implies a flood of American and English tourists—who would undoubtedly continue to stay away in droves unless their dollars and pounds buy a lot more francs than they can now.

Innovation

Federal reserve authorities are reported as somewhat bewildered by the torrent of criticism that descended on Marriner Eccles' head for his recent statement inferring that the stock market rise is sound and that in any event the reserve system has no intention of trying to interfere with it at present.

Mr. Eccles was merely carrying out the new idea of explaining federal reserve policy frankly to the public. The board felt it was taking a very constructive step in introducing this innovation. It's tough to expect bouquets and then find yourself a target for ancient vegetables instead.

A DISOBEDIENT OFFICER

Gen. August Willich, a Civil war hero, disobeyed Gen. Grant's orders on one occasion but instead of being disciplined for his act was hailed as one of his greatest contribution in the war.

Gen. Willich was German and after taking part in an unsuccessful revolution there, fled to America and enlisted in the 9th O. V. I. as a private. His ability was soon recognized and he was promoted rapidly.

His disregard of orders occurred at the battle of Mission Ridge where the Confederates were holding the base of the hill. He was ordered to charge them and hold his position. His men charged so impetuously they were half way up the hill before halted. Willich saw to retire would expose the companies following so he gave the command to continue the charge to the summit. They did so and the hill was captured.

TODAY
Arthur Brisbane's News Review

The outlook for Ethiopia is less hopeful, France and England planned to give Mussolini a free hand in Ethiopia if he would stop fighting. Now Mussolini is said to have replied that peace, if it came, would not be made by France and England, but by himself in Ethiopia.

Sir Samuel Hoare, speaking in the house of commons, begs Mussolini to "lay aside suspicion" and abandon his idea that England is trying to destroy him and France.

Mussolini would probably reply: "With your sanctions, embargoes and boycotts, you are certainly trying to starve Italy and its people. What is the difference?"

Sir Samuel told Mussolini he should hasten peace that a united Europe might "confront Japan with her aggression in China." Mussolini is not deeply interested in that. He has no 300,000,000 subjects in Asia.

England has always acted like one "walking on eggs" in dealing with Japan, but she does not like Japan's proposed seizure of Chinese territory "harms the prestige of Japan and hampers the development of friendly future relations between Japan and friends."

Death To Every White

Lord Mottistone, retired British major general and Conservative peer, told the House of Lords "England and other African colonial powers may be cutting the throat of every white man in Africa by supplying arms to Ethiopia."

An Ethiopian victory, brought about by League of Nations sanctions, according to Lord Mottistone, "would lead to rebellious risings in Africa, that Britain, France, Italy, Portugal and Spain have divided among themselves."

The British peer warned England: "If our policy is successful because of sanctions, and it is compelled to retreat, there will be a massacre ending every white man in Africa."

Sanctuary for Pope

In the past it has been necessary for the Pope to leave Rome and find a refuge elsewhere. At Avignon the Popes may still see magnificent ramparts of the city built by the Popes, and the palace of the Popes that took years to build.

Now it is suggested by a Catholic gate to Eamonn De Valera, head of the Irish government, that Pope Pius be offered a "sanctuary" in Ireland, if necessary.

Eoin O'Mahoney, De Valera delegate, says "Italy will be smashed" by the sanctions, and "if Mussolini goes, the Pope will have to go, too."

Mussolini probably will not be smashed. France and England do not want to substitute a Communist government in Italy for the present government.

Hitler Warns

Hitler's government, which has imprisoned priests and nuns accused of bringing in or sending out money illegally, makes new threats against Protestant clergymen opposing the Nazi control of government. "They will be shot for high treason," and, according to Universal Service, that does not mean capital punishment. The sight of a mild pfarrer receiving the battle-ax death blow from a Nazi headsman in full dress "with tails," might influence public opinion.

One clergyman said: "Christ died the death of one wrongly accused of treason. We are afraid to follow in His footsteps."

A religious war is a long way off.

Food Prices Rise

According to the department of labor, the cost of food went up about 1½ per cent during the two weeks from Nov. 5 to 19. Dairy products and potatoes rose sharply. Rapid increases in food prices may have more to do with the election results than all the intellectual talk on "issues," "the new deal," etc.

Visits Hauptmann

Governor Hoffman of New Jersey lets it be known that he has spent an hour in Hauptmann's cell, listening to the story told by the condemned man. The governor advises all members of the court of pardons, of which he himself is the most important member, to visit Hauptmann and hear him. That may be more important than Hauptmann than the last desperate appeal to the United States supreme court.

Coming Soon

James Farley, postmaster general, thinks the flying machine, invented here, should carry passengers and mail across the Atlantic. Discussions in which American, British, German and French authorities have shared indicate that transatlantic air passenger and mail service will come soon. International agreements are necessary since permission to land is necessary.

It is not as simple as when the Phoenicians pushed out from the eastern end of the Mediterranean and ran their boats up on the British coast wherever they could get ashore.

The most sensible transatlantic route, as Col. Lindbergh found when he returned from his great flight, would probably be via the Azores where planes could be overhauled and refueled. Portugal, however, permission is necessary there, for Portugal owns the Azores.

While you were sleeping last night the Pan-American Clipper was flying over the Pacific, 2,400 miles from Honolulu to San Francisco. If all goes well the big plane, after a 16,000-mile trip across the Pacific Ocean, will land this morning with [illegible] and 150,000 pieces of mail, the majority of them sent by stamp collectors.

MILK FUNDS SOUGHT BY KING'S DAUGHTERS

Money Exhausted for Tubercular Work Among Children.

A plea for funds with which to purchase milk for Marion's tubercular babies was made today by the City Union of King's Daughters, following a meeting of the executive board yesterday afternoon with Miss Sylvia Cellar of East Church street.

Until now the union has not found it necessary to ask for contributions for this particular work, but the milk fund is exhausted and to carry on the project will require public aid, it was announced.

Little publicity has been given the providing of milk for babies afflicted with tuberculosis but officers of the union said today that the work has been carried on almost since the King's Daughters was founded in Marion.

The lives of several babies has been saved by virtue of the milk provided from the special fund, officers said, and there are today many babies in Marion suffering from the disease whose lives depend on the nourishment.

Contributions may be sent to Mrs. E. Ray Barnhouse of 372 South Main street, or to Mrs. W. E. Miley of 203 South Seffner avenue.

Sixty dolls were distributed to the various circles to be dressed for the Children's Community Christmas party.

Announcement was made of a bake sale Dec. 14 at the Union-Phillips Co. store under the auspices of the Circle of Service and the In His Name circle.

National Staff Members At Girl Scout Institute

Thirty-Five Women from Various Ohio Cities Convene in Marion.

MISS FRANCES MORSE

MISS RUTH SCHROEDER

Thirty-five women from Marion, Wadsworth, Willard, Bellevue, Tiffin and Wooster met at the First Presbyterian church this morning for a Girl Scout field institute with Miss Frances Morse and Miss Ruth Schroeder of Cleveland, members of the Girl Scout national staff in the Kenowva region.

Mrs. Bennett Chapple of Middletown, chairman of the regional committee, was unable to be present.

Before the institute opened at 10:30 a. m., the women inspected the display of Girl Scout books and scouting material arranged by Miss Mary Turnock of the Cleveland Girl Scout office.

Miss Morse opened the meeting with a talk on "Knowing Your Own Community." Miss Schroeder gave a 15-minute talk on "Girl Scout Sponsors," which was followed by a brief talk by Miss Morse on "What Is the Status of Your Local Council?"

Mrs. Arthur S. Brooks and Mrs. J. E. Frew of Marion, Mrs. R. Gates of Wadsworth and Miss Schroeder took part in a discussion at 12 on "The Elements of Girl Scouting."

Mrs. J. Wendell Wiant, acting commissioner of the Marion council, presided for the morning session, which was followed by a luncheon at 12:30.

The program in the earliest part of the afternoon was to be given over to the following discussion topics: "Training and Personnel," Miss Schroeder; "Badges and Awards," Mrs. J. H. Durling of Wadsworth; "Camp," Mrs. H. K. Bowmen of Willard; "Finance," Mrs. R. T. Nye of Bellevue; "Publicity," Miss Morse. A discussion of "The Council Member's Share," at 3 p. m. was to conclude the institute.

Marion County Members To Join in Observance With Dinner and Program.

Approximately 75 persons are expected to attend the Ohio State day dinner which the Marion County Alumni association of Ohio State university will give tonight at 6:30 at the First Presbyterian church.

Throughout the world tonight similar groups will meet. Foy D. Kohler of the U. S. diplomatic service is arranging the meeting at Bucharest, Roumania, and Melvin K. Whiteleather, central European correspondent for The Associated Press, is in charge of arrangements in Paris. Meetings also will be held in the Philippines and in South Africa, according to J. E. Immediately following the Marion dinner Dr. D. W. Turnbull, junior dean in the college of engineering at Ohio State university, will give an address. Singing of Ohio State songs will be in charge of Edgar Barnhart. Following a business session in which officers will be elected, there will be games in charge of Mrs. Clarence Snyder.

Another feature of the broadcast will be a message from President George W. Rightmire, which will be read by Alumni Secretary John B. Fullon. President Rightmire will address Akron alumni tonight.

Mrs. Davis and Her Father Join in Praising Vendol

Both got wonderful relief from pains in the arms, knees and other joints. Stomach better and constipation banished.

MRS. HELEN DAVIS

"Vendol has not only done wonders for me but it has also helped my father just as much, and both of us are strong boosters for this medicine," declared Mrs. Helen Davis of 2002 Fifth Street, S. E. Canton.

"I was in a pretty badly run down condition and seemed that I just had no strength to do anything. My nerves were all to pieces so that I seldom got a good night's rest. My appetite was poor and what I ate did not seem to do much good or create strength and energy. After meals I would have a feeling that my clothes were tight, and sour risings would come up into my throat. Often there was a pain right in the pit of my stomach.

"I believe every joint in my body ached at times, but my arms and knees were especially bad. When I stooped over it would be hard for me to straighten up.

"I have taken four bottles of Vendol and it has made me feel like a different person. Vendol seems to have cleaned out my system entirely, carried off the poisons which kept my stomach upset and filled my bowels with pain. My food digests well, leaving no gas, sourness or that heavy dull feeling after meals. I sleep well, my bowels are regular and I am entirely free of dizziness. My father joins me in praising Vendol, because both of us think it is a very exceptional medicine."

Vendol is sold and recommended by Heaney & Cooper and all other leading druggists.—Adv.

Judge Seeks Men of High Esteem To Advise Boys

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 6—One hundred "reasonably successful, self respecting business and professional men" are wanted by Common Pleas Judge George Kerr to act as advisers to young men who are placed on probation.

"My hope" said the judge today after issuing the call for volunteers, "is that this group of business and professional men could be welded into an organization which would make a study of the problem watch the operation of the courts and the prosecutor's office and ultimately bring a helpful and understanding contact between all law enforcement officers and the business world

Since I have been in the criminal branch of this court not a single business man has been to see me to ask about the crime situation who has not been involved in some way in some cases

It is my judgment that if the problem were met in the right manner the business men of this community could save themselves millions of dollars in taxes and property lost through robbery and destruction."

The group of 100 would not be a substitute for the probation department, Judge Kerr explained but would give additional assistance in the handling of young men who are first or second offenders but show promise of responding to correction through guidance

Both the youth and his adviser would report to the probation department, the judge said

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Cataracts.

Cataract is a well known condition caused by a disturbance in what is known as the crystalline lens of the eye Normally this structure is as clear and transparent as the cleanest possible piece of glass. Some change possibly chemical in its nature alters the lens so that it becomes opaque obstructing the vision

Unless radical steps are taken the affected eye remains permanently blind This prospect and the likelihood of a similar occurrance to the other eye make it natural for one having this affliction to grasp at any alleged cure Unfortunately many unwarranted claims of 'cure' are made to the unhappy sufferer

Please do not be misled It is always best to consult with your physician He will advise you what to do and tell you where to get the necessary care Otherwise there is sure to be disillusionment and bitter disappointment.

Perhaps the dim vision is not due to cataract—it may come from some condition which is curable in the early stages Too many times unfortunately the doctor is consulted after permanent damage has been done

In the beginning, the victim of cataract notices A dimness of vision in one eye He may think this indicates the need of new glasses or if he does not wear glasses he sometimes he needs them

May I say in passing that many neglect to obtain glasses or do not check up on old glasses that are being worn This is wrong—the eyesight is too precious to neglect.

As the cataract progresses, the sufferer finds that he can read only large print and can see objects only at close range. Of course, these symptoms do not mean necessarily that the disturbance is due to cataract. As I have said, it may be due to some disorders. In any event, one thing is certain—a visit to the doctor should be made.

Let me point out that cataract is not found exclusively in persons advanced in years. Sometimes it appears at an early age. For example diabetes may be the cause of cataract in young persons. Some children are born with cataract In such cases it may possibly be traced to malnutrition or hereditary influence

If the cataract is caused by some constitutional disturbance, it can be controlled by giving attention to the underlying disorder It stands to reason that a cataract caused by diabetes cannot be expected to improve unless the diabetic condition is treated

When once the cataract has definitely formed no medicine will dissolve it or cause it to disappear Operation is the only procedure that will rid you of advanced and "ripe" cataract If both eyes are involved, it is best to operate the most fully developed cataract Operation on the second eye can be performed at a later time.

Many who have unmistakable cataract dodge the operation in spite of wise medical advice in their eagerness to avoid surgery they resort to the ill advised and unapproved methods of treatment I have mentioned Let me warn you against this error

Of all the serious ailments one can have cataract is the most satisfactory because it can be so quickly and easily removed With five minutes in the operating room a procedure made painless by a local anesthetic will restore the sight

Cardinal Roster Becomes Virtual Hospital List

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6—If the St. Louis Cardinals can get their wheel chairs to the ball park next season they think they may win the pennant.

Pat Ankenman, Cardinal recruit and a shortstop last season with Columbus, the team's American association farm, is the latest addition to the club's casualty list. Pat, son of the president of the Cards' Texas league ranch at Houston, has a leg injury which Dr. Robert F. Hyland, Cardinal club surgeon, will work on.

Johnny Mize, young Cardinal first baseman, was discharged recently from a St. Louis hospital after an operation for removal of pelvic growths, but he is remaining here for exercise and further treatment.

Still under treatment, too, is infielder Terry Moore, who broke a bone below his left knee and wrenched an ankle last September.

The Cardinals are in receipt of a letter from Lyle Judy, young outfielder, stating he is recovering without ill effects from head injuries received in a recent automobile accident in Louisville, Ky.

Heine Mueller, former Cardinal outfielder and manager of one of the club's minor league teams last season, was scheduled for a hospital appearance here today for the removal of his appendix.

Joe Schultz, Cardinal scout, has been in a hospital undergoing treatment for erysipelas, and only a few weeks ago the dean of Cardinal scouts, Charley Barrett, was discharged from the hospital after an operation.

From Danville, Ill., came word that Bill De Lancey, Cardinals catcher, will go to Florida to recover his strength after a long battle with pneumonia.

And Jim Bottomley, Cincinnati first baseman and former Cardinal, decided he would have an operation and is still in the hospital.

OHIO U. PLACES 3 ON FIRST LINEUP; B.-W. AWARDED TWO

Ray Zeh, Nation's Leading Scorer, Draws Honorary Captaincy Position.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6—Wreaths of glory descended today upon the brows of 11 Buckeye gridders, representing seven colleges, as coaches, officials and sports writers named the 1935 Associated Press All-Ohio football team.

Ohio University, the state's lone unbeaten and untied eleven and runaway champion of the Buckeye conference, topped the list with three men on the first team. The Bobcats paced Halleck at end, Lewis at tackle and Snyder in the backfield.

Cincinnati Gets Two

Baldwin - Wallace, high-scoring team within the Buckeye confines, took over two of the first berths with W. Krause at tackle and Ken Noble at halfback. Cincinnati, victor over Indiana and tied for second behind Ohio U., placed Harry Duncan at guard and Ray Nolting in the backfield.

Akron won a guard berth with the stellar Earl Hensal, place-kicker de luxe; Ohio Wesleyan placed Ray Overturf at center; Muskingum gained recognition through its great end, Bob Cox, while Western Reserve won the fullback job with Ray Zeh, the nation's leading scorer.

The chunky fullback, who counted 112 points during the season to set the pace for the entire country, led all the way in the voting and was awarded the honorary captaincy.

Represents 13 Colleges

Only 13 of the Ohio colleges are represented on the first three teams, the voting indicating an unusual concentration of talent.

The first eleven would be a "dream" team for any coach. The four backs piled up 319 points during the season, and the team as a whole counted 853.

The forward wall would stack up at a 191-pound average, and the backs at 178. All four backs can kick and pass and run, and are adept at the handling of lateral passes.

Overturf, Ohio Wesleyan's great center, played fine ball all year in the Battling Bishop line, his passing was excellent, and he backed up the forward wall in great shape on defense.

Big Bob Seele of Bucyrus, star performer at Heidelberg, drew recognition in the honorable mention list.

Players selected, their school, position on the team and home town follow:

Paul Halleck, Ohio U., end, Williamsport; W. Krause, Baldwin-Wallace, tackle, Aurora; Earl Hensal, Akron, guard, Akron; Ray Overturf, Ohio Wesleyan, center, Columbus; Harry Duncan, Cincinnati, guard, Cincinnati; Arthur Lewis, Ohio U., tackle, Middleport; Bob Cox, Muskingum, end, New Concord; Ray Nolting, Cincinnati, back, Cincinnati; Robert Snyder, Ohio U., back, Toledo; Kenneth Noble, Baldwin-Wallace, back, Cleveland; Ray Zeh, Western Reserve, back, Cleveland.

The second team choices are as follows:

Keiker, Western Reserve, end; Feilhaus, Cincinnati, tackle; Burnison, Ohio U., guard; Roberts, Mt. Union, center; Palm, Toledo guard; Ragazzo, Western Reserve, tackle; Powell, Baldwin-Wallace, end; McDonough, Dayton, back; Ippolito, Western Reserve, back; Koprowski, Xavier, back; Michovsky, Case, back.

Third team choices follow:

Schroeder, Ohio Wesleyan, end; Mysienski, Western Reserve, tackle; Janson, Xavier, guard; Storey, Western Reserve, center; Lindsay, Heidelberg, guard; Longsworth, Ohio Wesleyan, tackle; Sweeney, Xavier, end; Haby, Cincinnati, back; Cherbitski, Ohio U., back; Burgwin, Western Reserve, back; Malone, Muskingum, back.

OLYMPIC DISPUTE BEFORE A.A.U. GROUP

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 — The executive and foreign relations committees of the Amateur Athletic union met today to seek a peaceful settlement of the proposed boycott against the 1936 Olympic games before it developed into a battle on the floor of the forty-seventh annual A. A. U. convention.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, Olympic committee chairman who heads the pro-participation forces, and Jeremiah T. Mahoney of New York, A. A. U. president, on the side favoring the boycott, both claimed victory.

Regardless of the outcome of the A. A. U. battle, it seems certain the United States will be represented at the Olympics. The utmost the A. A. U. could do would be to refuse to certify them and perhaps suspend those who went over.

Papelino and LaCrosse On Monday Wrestle Program

George Sauers and Black Panther Also To Be Featured in Double Main Go.

Marion wrestling fans who suffer from weak hearts should consult their doctors before attending the mat program scheduled for the Shovel gymnasium Monday night. Four of about the roughest gentlemen ever introduced here are to be featured in two extraordinary headline bouts.

In one of the double main go scraps Tony Papelino will meet Gil LaCrosse. Quite a number of fans who have been hoping to see both of these grapplers tanned should enjoy this conflict. Both fighters are known not so much for the victories they have scored but for their continuous display of rough tactics.

George Sauers and the Black Panther will tangle in the other half of the double-feature card. Both wrestlers have been on the Shovel program recently and are well-known for their cleverness and mat ability. The Panther, clean when his opponent is clean, handles himself well in fast and rough company.

Sauers of Nebraska won here last week by scoring a 17-minute fall over Teddy Walters. An exponent of a torturous chin-lock, the Nebraskan drew boos from the crowd by his mean methods. One of his favorite stunts is to remain in a corner of the ring and dare his opponent to come after him. Each time an opponent tries, he is sent sprawling with a blow from the Nebraskan's flying feet.

The Black Panther, booked out of Algeria, is especially liked by Marion enthusiasts. He puts up a clean fight and does not display any unnecessary roughness until an opponent takes advantage of him. Then he goes "native" and stalks his adversary with an air of calm defiance.

Tony Papelino and Gil LaCrosse have much in common. Both men hail from Boston, exhibit plenty of rough stuff, and display contempt for a referee who parts them for using illegal holds.

In two consecutive fights here Tony has lost by disqualification. Last week in his battle with Prince Nihallkas he brought the crowd to its feet with his riotous mauling of both the Prince and Referee Temple.

Gil LaCrosse's last scrap here, ended in a draw with his opponent after two official and two unofficial falls were registered. The barrel-chested Boston wrestler puts up a hard fight and works on his opponents with an unusual amount of enthusiasm.

A fast preliminary to the big matches is being arranged. It will begin the program promptly at 8:30 p. m.

GAMES WANTED

The Trinity Baptist Sunday school team, winners of the Y. M. C. A. championship in the Senior division for two consecutive years, wish to schedule games in the Marion district with non-league opponents. Teams interested are asked to call Sterling Somerlot at 2111.

Daily Pattern for Home Use

BY ANNE ADAMS

MAKE A TEEN AGE FROCK FOR SCHOOL OR JOLLY "GET TOGETHERS"

A junior miss who doesn't get all enthused over the flattering possibilities of this soft young frock just hasn't a flair for style, while those who have, will waste no time in assembling one just like it for themselves. It makes its mark at school, fashioned of becoming rabbit's hair woolen, jersey or challis, with shirred bodice points to flatter the young figure. It also loves to accompany its wearer to those jolly little get-togethers the young crowd's always so impromptu about, and for these, any colorful crepe, satin or novelty synthetic is a pretty youthful and becoming idea. All in all, you'll find it sophisticated enough for 'teen-age ideas, yet so young and gay mother will heartily approve.

Pattern 2537 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 14 takes 3¾ yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

RADIO HEAT RAYS USED TO TREAT AGING GLANDS

Medical Remedy Brings Rejuvenation into Broader Health Field, Especially for the Aging.

Gland transplantation has not been abolished, but has been supplemented by a variety of treatments. These include administration of hormones, the regulatory substances produced by glands. They include recognition of the fact that it is not always the sex gland but some other one which has gone wrong and is affecting sex functions along with general health.

It is known now that the sex glands are only one station in a circuit of several glands scattered through the body, and interacting on one another. The other most important ones are the pituitary in the head, the thyroid at the base of the neck and the adrenals on top of the kidneys.

The new radio treatment applies to any of these. It employs ultra-short waves, less than six meters long. These waves heat the interior of the body. They warm glands no matter what their depth or position. The warmth acts on the capillaries, increasing blood flow. It also may have an inhibiting effect on bacteria.

Stimulates Weak Glands

Poorly functioning glands are supposed to be stimulated and to produce more nearly a normal supply of their vital hormones.

In the new technique of rejuvenation it is possible to find out which gland is out of balance. This improvement in diagnosis is considered one of the most important recent developments. Laboratory metabolism and food tests furnish the means of diagnosis.

The main reason for transplantation operations, either of sex or other glands, was, and still is, to increase the supply of hormones.

A disadvantage of a new gland is that the body may have to absorb foreign proteins sometimes not beneficial. An advantage is that the new gland presumably supplies all its respective hormones. It is not yet certain that all of the hormones are available artificially.

Another operation still used is steinach vasoligation. By it a duct is tied off so that the body cuts down one of the normal male products.

Claim Supply Increased

Those favoring this operation claim that in place of the suppressed activity, interstitial cells apparently increase and manufacture a larger supply of the male hormone. Opponents deny any such change.

The reason for the controversy over "rejuvenation" was summarized by Harry Benjamin, M. D., of New York City, in a lecture before the Sacramento (Cal.) County Medical society.

"Some claim," he said, "that old age is entirely caused by a decrease in sex glad activity. Others say that the two have nothing to do with each other. I believe both opinions are wrong in this arbitrary form.

"In my opinion old age has only one cause: the wear and tear of life. The glands age together with the rest of the organism—but the resistance which the sex glands can offer to the wear and tear of life is of especial importance."

Then as they swept into the beautiful, broad driveway she uttered a low sigh.

"I think I'm going to be so awfully sick—

But she wasn't. She exerted herself immediately and fought off the nauseating attack. She was fundamental strong this slim girl with the honey-colored hair.

Willett, who recognized strength abruptly found himself looking upon death with a different view point.

"I shot him" She spoke queerly

Death he had seen in many forms extending from a mine explosion in Swansea to that old paymaster of his father's who'd fallen off his horse on a six foot grade in the Barisan foothills.

He had become hardened to it as something that fitted in naturally with the twisting pattern of this thing called Existence. But watching this girl draw a long quivering breath in her struggle for control he remembered how terribly weak and helpless he'd felt years ago had been very young a kid—had he felt—

"Take it easy," he advised genitly. "You shot in self-defense—"

"I shot him." She spoke queerly, like somebody trying to feel out a geometrical theorem. "I just found it in my hand—and it was just there—"

She laughed shortly. "How ridiculous. I sound like a baby-faced wife telling the jury how she made herself a widow."

"You only winged the buzzard. Shucks these South Americans scream over a stomach ache."

She shook her head slowly. "He didn't scream. He didn't say a word. What shall I do? Give myself up to the police—"

No! His voice crackled with emphasis. You were at the Legation Club all night, understand? Fox will fix that end of it. You don't know whether Rosina B is the name of a Spanish dancer or a tugboat.

He paused a moment.

Fox is the only person who will know. In the meantime don't worry about a thing. I'm covering.

He was covering. She looked at him then the clear strong line of tanned jaw and straight nose profiled against the street lamps.

He was still the brass band thing, rangy, auburn haired young man who moved so surely and calmly in a world of flares and battle.

I'm a coward, she said quite simply. I'm afraid. Of lots of things. And yet she smiled wanly when you say I'm covering I don't feel afraid. I don't know why.

To Willett she was only a strange and lovely girl who'd amazingly shot from the hip to cover his horrible carelessness in turning his back and was now slightly incoherent from the shock of gunsmoke and a swaying thing back on Rosina B. He felt it was only natural.

But to George Fox she would have been somebody entirely different from the girl of quicksilver tastes and strange moody desires that led to explosions and headlines in a world of town houses, sport motors and blue ribbon hunters.

She was the girl who at flashing intervals tried desperately to reach into her ancestry for qualities that her parents disregarded—courage perhaps, sincerity assuredly— And George Fox would have marveled.

Willett drove her to her hotel, the regal Alvio Palacio, house of gleaming shirt fronts and polo players. He snapped off the engine and turned in his seat.

Get hold of yourself, he urged. Fox and I will take care of things. Now!—all set?

Yes, pard.

He reflected briefly on that. Yes, pard.

You saved my life, you know,' he said wonderingly. For the Lord's sake I'd forgotten that—

She nearly regained the gift of laughter. He seemed so incredulous—as if something had told him but he didn't believe it. Evidently his life was something to juggle around and nearly dropping it occasionally was nothing very surprising.

Easy does it, he counseled anxiously. You've just come back from the Legation—

She nodded darkly.

Watch me, buddy. This here stained woman once walked a chalk line in a Connecticut police station.

He saw her walk steadily through the great doors of the Alvio Palacio, nodding calmly to the doorman, saw her long graceful figure fade into the Alvio's late cocktail crowd and disappear.

Nerve, Willett muttered and flirted a farewell hand.

The lights and music of the Legation club still twinkled serenely on. The world dies and the world dances—

—If Hildez is dead hell is going to pop, Terry. Allaire's traveling on a diplomatic passport and things are ticklish right now. Be an awful mess.

He looked very strained. George Fox of Harvard and the American Foreign Service. He lit a cigaret. His hand was shaking slightly.

Self-defense—" he began.

Sure," said Terry, "but Hildez is in the doubtful column just the same. Get her out of the country, George, as soon as you can. They hate Americans down here, you know that."

George Fox hears from his superior, tomorrow.

SPRING IN THE HEART

Ah love it is not by the gray in thy tresses
Thou shalt know when the roses of youth are all dead—
But by the lost ardour of sighs and caresses,
That tempt thee no longer love's measure to tread

It is not when time's wrinkles shall touch thy soft cheek, dear
Thou canst say that sweet youth and its treasures have fled—
But when the heartbeats of thy spirit grow weak dear
And thou findest the cocktail is not worth the head

He laughs at the years—and puts age to confusion
Who still in love's folly can find the sweet bliss
The dream in the music in life the illusion
The pain in the parting the thrill in the kiss.

And the loss of our curls and our curves is in truth dear
A trifle when swung in the balance with this
For there's nothing to age and there's nothing to youth dear
But the song in the heart—and the thrill in the kiss'

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Harmony of Boys and Betty Disrupted as She Leaves.

MR. GIBBS gave a hilarious chuckle, and I choked back a laugh with difficulty as his small daughter Betty, faced the boys with the air of an imperious princess and loftily praising one of their books which she had been reading said, "I suppose you've both read it."

Her desire to take the book home with her was so apparent through her naive pretense of indifference that no one of us missed it, and my first amusement over, I wondered uneasily how the boys, avid readers both, would take this suggestion that they turn over to this new playmate the cherished book which recently had been added to their library which both had begun and which I was sure neither of them had finished.

"We've begun it, Roderick said quickly.

But we haven't finished it' Junior supplemented. Then they exchanged long significant glances the cryptic signals of small boyhood and Roderick said with elaborate carelessness

Reluctantly Agree

I don't suppose we'll get much time to read in the next day or two what with Noel being hurt and the fishing and everybody being so busy.

His lordly tone implied that the cares of the sickroom and the camp and the necessity of providing fish for food rested almost wholly upon his shoulders and those of his cousin. Junior promptly added the finishing touch to the renunciation.

So I suppose you might as well take it along with you and read it if you want to.

How long do you suppose it will take you? Roderick asked with distinct anxiety in his voice.

Betty answered. Junior's offer first suddenly doing credit to her mother's training.

Thank you so much" she said. Then she turned to Roderick.

I can't tell exactly how long it will take me to finish it she said. I'll have lots of things that will have to be done in between times. But I'll bring it back just as soon as I've finished it.'

Aw' take your time' they chorused and then Betty's father said firmly.

Say good night now Betty and come with me.

Betty came over to me suddenly shedding the truculence and shrinkness that had characterized her colloquy with the boys. She was transformed into a charming representative of young femininity.

Good night Mrs. Graham she said with just the right combination of deference and self possession. Thank you so much letting me stay here to read and play games. I have had a lovely time.

I am so glad you enjoyed your stay Betty. I told her with equal punctiliousness. I shall ask your mother to let you come over often.

Thank you. I should love to come she answered added with a sidelong glance at the boys that held something condescending in it.

Maybe the boys would like to come over to our place some time. The beach is better over there for swimming.

This beach here looks pretty good to me.' Roderick said truculently. But Junior threw a sop although an awkward one to social nuances.

We might give it a try.' he said and Betty suddenly dropped her courtesy as she turned from me.

Think you're smart you two don't you?' she jeered and with a swift movement her father encircled her shoulders with a sinewy arm and whirled her affectionately but firmly through the door.

"Discretion is distinctly the better part of valor at this juncture" he quoted.

Waiting only to be sure that truculent Betty had been removed from the scene of action, I turned to the boys, palpably apprehensive of my reaction to their rudeness and ignoring it completely for I had no time for discipline, I said quietly.

"I want you to stay here again and take care of Faith and the camp until I get back. I must go over to see how Noel is."

RUTH NICHOLS TO FLY SOON DESPITE HURTS

Says She Will Be at Controls of Her Plane Before She Is Able To Walk.

By The Associated Press

TROY, N. Y., Dec. 6—Miss Ruth Nichols sat up in a wheel chair today and pledged herself to a return to the air lanes even before she fully recovers from injuries suffered in a fatal crash.

The dark-haired girl who held a transcontinental speed record and an altitude record voiced her faith in aviation at an inquest into the death of Capt. Harry Hublitz, her co-pilot on an "educational" flying tour. The inquest was held in her hospital room.

"I'll be flying before I can walk again," she said. "Aviation now is too firmly entrenched to permit a few isolated accidents to dim the enthusiasm for air travel.

"My doctor thinks that I can be moved within a few days. The next step will be a few weeks of rest and then a return to the air lanes. He says I can fly before I can walk and I plan to get behind the controls as soon as possible."

Miss Nichols was injured six weeks ago when a huge twin-motored plane piloted by Capt. Hublitz sideslipped with its left motor dead and crashed near Troy airport. Capt. Hublitz, former navy flyer, died of burns.

STATISTICIAN RAPS ELECTION CHANGE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6 — An Ohio State university statistician said today a rewording of Ohio's election laws permitted minority groups to defeat 58 school bond issue proposals totalling $6,745,439 at the Nov. 5 election.

Special school levies in cities and exempted villages, Dr. Thomas C. Holy of the bureau of education research found, won increased favor over last year. Eighty-nine per cent received approval, compared to 67 per cent in 1934. In county districts, the percentage was 71 to 65 last year.

Dr. Holy said the change, which led to the defeat of the bond issues and the loss for Ohio in $7,127,000 in federal funds, resulted from an act of the general assembly requiring a 65 per cent favoring vote instead of a mere majority.

ASHLEY SCHOOL BOND VOTE SET FOR DEC. 16

$35,000 Issue for Share in PWA Project Cost To Go on Ballot.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., Dec. 6—A special election to vote on the proposed $35,000 bond issue for construction of an addition to the Ashley school building, will be held Dec. 16. The bond issue lost by two votes in the November election.

The Ashley school district includes Ashley village and Oxford township in Delaware county, and two-thirds of Peru township and one-half of Westfield township in Morrow county.

If the bond issue is approved at the special election, the $35,000 from the sale of bonds would pay the school's share of 55 per cent of the total estimated cost of $63,000, the remaining cost of approximately $30,000 to be provided by the PWA. The project was approved by the state and the plans sent to Washington, D. C., before the bond issue was placed on the November ballot.

Exhibits at Brazil's first annual international sample fair in October demonstrated that manufacturing of industrial, metallurgical and electrical machinery and devices has made great progress in that country.

SOY BEAN MILL HEAD SPEAKS

Turner Addresses Kiwanians; Visitors Boost Attendance to Seventy-Seven.

Marion Kiwanians and a number of guests that swelled the attendance to 77 heard P. Turner, president and treasurer of Marion's newest industry and a native of Marion county, speak at the club's weekly luncheon yesterday in Hotel Marion.

Mr. Turner reviewed events that led to a decision to organize Old Fort Mills, Inc., which he heads, and outlined some of the possibilities he feels the future holds for the plant and the counties near Marion that are expected to supply most of the soy beans to be processed by the company.

The capacity of the plant, opened this week, will be doubled within the next eight months if present plans mature, he said.

Inability to buy in this district or in other parts of Ohio the necessary quantity of beans to commence operations resulted in the purchase of 100,000 bushels of Illinois beans, Mr. Turner said, adding that the company would rather purchase its beans in this territory if a supply was available.

Products of the plant for next six months are sold in advance, Mr. Turner said. Most of the soy bean oil meal will be shipped into New England states and the oil, 96 per cent of which will go into the manufacture of food products, will be marketed throughout the country.

Soy beans, he declared while emphasizing the advantages of the crop from a farmer's viewpoint, have a wider range of uses than corn, wheat, oats, barley and all other common crops put together.

Mr. Turner expressed his appreciation of the cooperation he has received from Marion interests in preparing for the formal three-day opening now in progress and thanked the business interests of the city, the Chamber of Commerce and particularly W. D. Brown, secretary of the Chamber, who, he said, was largely responsible for the plant being placed here.

G. A. Holland, vice president and secretary of the company, also spoke briefly. Representatives of newspapers in the Marion district and elevator men and farmers were among the guests.

MARION MEN WIN MAGAZINE PRIZES

W. E. Thomas, First, and C. M. Noyes, Third, in Erie Contest.

One Marion man was a first prize winner and another was a runner-up in a puzzle picture contest depicting safety violations sponsored by The Erie Magazine, the publication of the Erie railroad Co.

W. E. Thomas of 138 South Grand avenue, section foreman here, won first honors, and third honors went to Charles M. Noyes 126 Canby court, messenger in the office of the superintendent here.

The winners were announced in the December issue of the magazine. Thomas, whose answers were the first correct ones to be received, listed 14 violations contained in the puzzle, and Noyes was one of two employes to list 13 violations in the picture.

The judges were H. R. Cole, assistant to the vice president, C. James, superintendent of motive power, J. C. Patterson, chief engineer, maintenance of way, J. J. Heavey, safety supervisor, and Frank M. America, magazine editor.

HARDIN CO. SCHOOL DISTRICTING ALTERED

17 Units Dissolved and Seven Set Up in Their Place as Economy Move.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Dec. 6—A revolutionary change in the school districting system of Hardin county was ordered here today, effective July 1, 1930, by members of the county board of education.

They ordered a dissolution of the seventeen present districts and setting-up of seven districts in their place "in the interest of economy, efficiency and increased educational facilities." Present local school board members will lose their positions when the change becomes effective and will be replaced by appointee board members in the newly-formed districts, it was announced.

The educators authorized County Supt. F. C. Ransdell to prepare a rough draft of outlines of the proposed new districts for consideration at the next meeting. Those in touch with the situation said the redistricting should have come 10 years ago as it will mean a material savings in transportation, teacher-hire and fuel by elimination of unnecessary one room schools; will increase efficiency by bringing more modern teaching to larger classes, members of which will be offered a curriculum wide enough to interest all; and will entitle the county system to its full share of state aid under the school foundation program.

We will repay him.

Procter & Gamble

DON'T DELAY... ACT AT ONCE... WHILE SUPPLY LASTS

Simply Do This

To Keep Your Loveliest Things Looking Colorful, Fresh And Gay: Go To Your Dealer And Buy A 25c Size Package Of Dreft. Then, For Only 1c More—Receive A Full Size 15c Package To Try. Money Back If Not Satisfied.

Procter and Gamble makes this remarkable offer—a regular fifteen-cent package of DREFT for 1¢—for the sole purpose of inducing more women to try this amazing and utterly new washing creation. So that they can see for themselves that here at last is the way to wash fine things perfectly and with utter safety to any color or fabric that plain water won't harm.

Just go to your dealer's and get a big, economy size twenty-five-cent package of DREFT. And you'll receive for ONLY ONE CENT, a regular 15c package of DREFT (a 15c package marked especially to sell at 1c during this sale).

Banishes Troublesome, Dingy, Color-Dulling, Hard-Water Scum

If you enjoy keeping your dainty, delicate, expensive things looking fresh, colorful and gay—even after scores of washings—you owe it to yourself to try DREFT—(Process and product patented U. S. letters patent, 1,968,733 to 7 inclusive) the most amazing washing discovery in over 2000 years! For DREFT brings an entirely new conception of how long you can wear lingerie, chiffon hose and fine woolens without seeing them grow dim, dull and lifeless. And the chief reason for this is because DREFT can't possibly form any hard-water "scum."

This "scum" which you always see in your rinse water, is unnoticeable in your wash water—yet it is there, doing its vicious work, wash after wash, dulling the lustre of your sheer lingerie, spotting and streaking silk stockings. And this is true even though you have used what, before the discovery of DREFT, was recognized as the best, most expensive, soap known for washing fine fabrics.

Amazing as this may seem, DREFT ends all this because it can't form scum. And even more amazing, DREFT actually removes the stubborn, clinging scum particles that failed to rinse away in previous soap washings—lets "scum-dulled" colors come up to their true brilliance. You'll be thrilled to see the delicate colors and feel the silky softness of your sheerest stockings "wash back" in DREFT suds.

5 Times Greater Suds

In addition, DREFT does these three remarkable things no single soap has ever done, or can do now:

Makes 5 times greater suds than any soap in the hardest water.

Cleanses thoroughly—even lipstick and so-called "impossible" smudges!

Rinses out completely—no soapy deposit left.

By comparison DREFT makes even the purest soap you have ever known seem harsh—because DREFT suds contain no alkali. Alkali in soapsuds is what fades colors. DREFT suds are the only suds you can get that do not contain alkali. You'll be astonished how, wash after wash, silk stockings actually seem like new when you use DREFT. It's economical too. For instance, in hard water, you need only use half as much DREFT as you would the finest soap flakes. We don't ask you to take our word for these amazing claims. Prove them for yourself at our risk.

Take Advantage of 1c Sale Today

Please take special notice that this unusual 1¢ bargain sale is limited. You can only get 1¢ DREFT while your dealer's stock lasts. Remember to get DREFT today. Your money back if you're not satisfied. Act quickly and avoid disappointment.

AGENTS GUARD LIQUOR QUALITY

Tax Unit Keeps Eye on Manufacturers To Assure Use of Proper Materials.

(Editor's Note: The public doesn't really know as much as it thinks it does about good liquor—and bad. In the following article, final installment in a series of three, the alcohol tax unit officials reveal that their major task is to protect the public on the matter of liquor.)

BY JOSEPH K. RUKENBROD,
International News Writer

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 6—The newly-organized government, through its newly-organized alcohol tax unit, is "trying to protect a sophisticated public which thinks it knows good liquor, but actually doesn't."

With this statement, Fred W. Beltz, supervisor of the unit's district No. 6, embracing Ohio and Michigan, and with headquarters here summed up the organization's purpose. The unit is under the bureau of internal revenue of the United States department of the treasury and is the successor of the old revenue service—the bitter enemy of mountain moonshiners.

Through an extensive system of checking the source of materials used in the manufacture of liquor, the government is controlling the production, according to unit officials.

Free of Politics

"The unit is making good progress," Supervisor Beltz said. "We are trying to be of service to the people through an organization which is free of politics. One of our most important problems in this work is the control of the retail liquor dealer."

He explained that the district has 120 inspectors who are constantly checking the retailer, for two reasons:

First, to see that the federal laws are observed, and that nothing but tax-paid liquor is sold; and second, to see that the buyer, "the man on the street, get's what he's paying for."

"How much bootleg liquor is being sold through the retailer is problematical," Beltz declared.

Enforcement Permissive

"The unit is made up of two divisions — enforcement and permissive. The permissive division concerns the legitimate industry, the distilleries, the breweries, the wineries, etc, and this industry is controlled through supervision and inspection.

"In the enforcement division we are concerned directly with the illicit manufacturer—who has disregarded the laws for the purpose of evading taxes. For that reason, we are directing our guns at the so-called 'big shot,' and we have had a better range in the past year than ever before.

"We locate the illicit manufacturer through checking the substance, or materials he uses, and by deductive investigations. We trace him through the seller, the transporter, etc., to the source of the supply—in other words, the still. This latter method is the preferred type."

Officials cited specific cases in which large illicit stills have thus been traced, and the manufacturers brought to trial. Among them was a still concealed in a grain mill near Zanesville, which was the largest illicit distillery ever in operation in the United States.

Following arrest and indictment, the defendants are brought to trial as soon as possible through the district attorney's office.

"We are just now getting sympathetic juries, however," the unit officials said, pointing out that during prohibition, jurors were inclined to be in sympathy with the defendants.

"Lately, the people are beginning to realize that the men we take into court should be punished for evading the tax laws. They know that they, as consumers, will have to pay the taxes sometime."

Since the local district has been organized, on May 10, 1934, there have been 1,455 stills seized, 2,221 persons arrested and approximately 98 per cent of them convicted. The stills seized had a total capacity of 264,535 gallons. In those raids, the agents confiscated 37,761 gallons of alcohol (more than 100 proof), and 79,311 gallons of whisky (less than 100 proof). The amount of mash seized totaled 2,253,172 gallons.

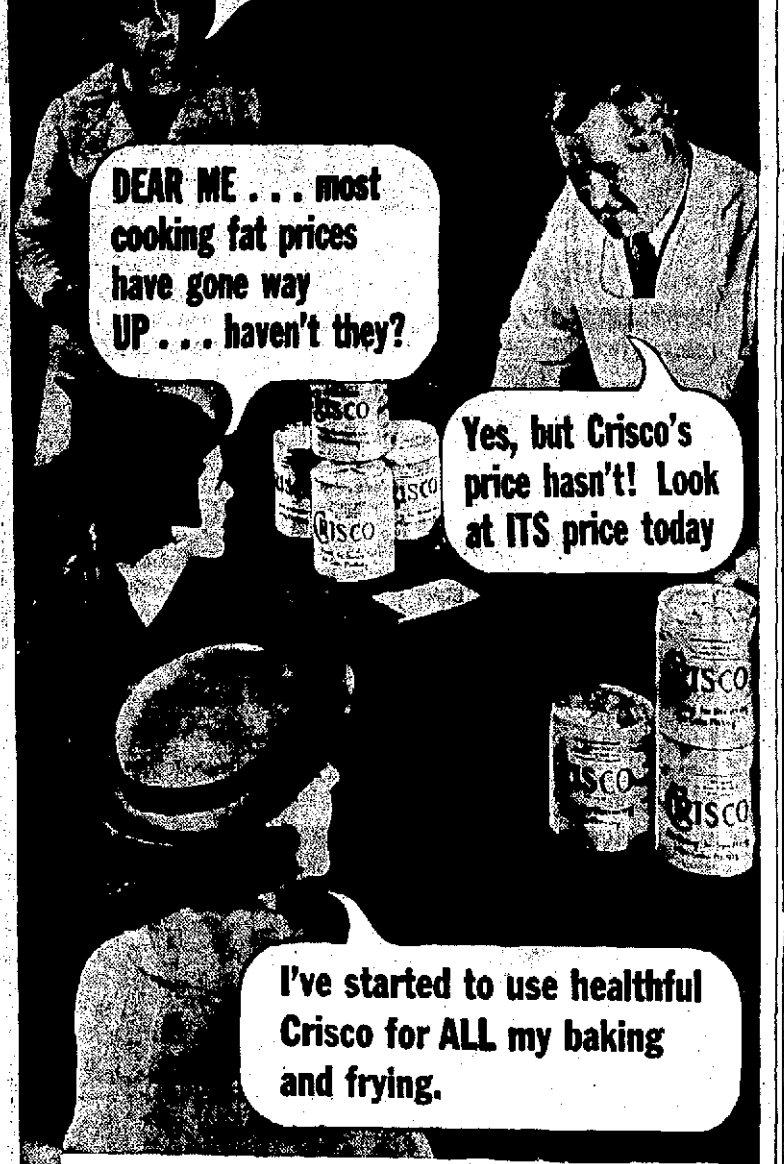
WHAT'S HAPPENED TO SHORTENING PRICES?



DEAR ME . . . most cooking fat prices have gone way UP . . . haven't they?
Yes, but Crisco's price hasn't! Look at ITS price today
I've started to use healthful Crisco for ALL my baking and frying.
Crisco

SOMETHING'S been happening to shortening prices! Ask your dealer about it. Ask him the prices of Crisco —and other cooking fats.

You'll find that most shortenings now cost much more than they did a year ago. But that's not true with Crisco. It hasn't gone up like that. Today there is very little difference between the prices of Crisco and ordinary cooking fats.

Think what that means!

It means that—at present prices—it's economical to buy pure wholesome Crisco — and no other shortening. It means you can use Crisco for all baking and frying.

And when you use Crisco — the healthful all-purpose shortening, your family can enjoy your cooking at its best—light flaky pies, crisp fried foods, feathery cakes. For Crisco is made only of the purest vegetable oils—creamed and creamed into pure, sweet, fluffy shortening.

Buy a big 3-lb. can of Crisco today!

New Produce Rolls Into Marion Market Stands

...new market produce ... Marion this week ... not as a result of ... ather in the south ... Pacific coast. ... weather cut down ... crops, dealers re- ... always a popular ... have taken a jump in ... about 20 cents a pound. ... They're from Flor- ... experienced a heavy ... week. ... and Florida grape- ... coming in good quality ... as are the Texas ... California grapes shot ... along with most oth- ... most produce.

Other new shipments from there include peas, cauliflower and broccoli. The new crop of naval oranges from California has hit the market stands. Prices are up slightly.

The head lettuce cutters have moved from California's Imperial Valley to Arizona, and the vegetable is coming along in excellent quality. Leaf lettuce and tomatoes now on the market are from the hothouses.

In addition to grapefruit the Lone Star state is sending along nice spinach, carrots and beets, dealers report. A little later on Texas probably will lead all other sections in shipments of a variety of produce.

The apple situation was reported good, with Washington Jonathans, Grimes Golden and Delicious holding the lead in popularity. All are plentiful and while dealers are forced to get a bit more money for them now they are not priced so high that shoppers will pass them by.

Lemon prices amaze both shoppers and dealers by continuing to rise in price. Dealers have explained that many lemons used in this country are shipped from Italy and that the war situation is causing slow shipments.

The south and west are expected to come through with plentiful shipments of new items within a week or 10 days, dealers said, and it is hoped there can be a lower price within that time.

"That's great news for me—I'm a Calumet fan!"

SAYS MRS. C. H. MCINTOSH, OF CHICAGO, ILL.

Now—Calumet Baking Powder in a Big New 10¢ Can!

"I USE CALUMET Baking Powder whatever the price," Mrs. McIntosh says. "But I try to keep to my weekly budget—and a ten-cent can of Calumet that size is certainly welcome. I know it's a bargain!"

Her son Jack, just back from a trip away from home, settles down to some of Mother's famous coffee cake, and pays for it with a big smile.

WHY IS CALUMET so dependable? Why is such a small amount needed—just a level teaspoon to a cup of sifted flour in most recipes? Why is it different from other baking powders?

Calumet combines two distinct leavening actions. A quick action for the mixing bowl—set free by liquid. A slower action for the oven—set free by heat.

Calumet's remarkable Double-Action is so perfectly balanced and controlled that it produces perfect leavening. Calumet is a product of General Foods.

AT THIS PORCH PARTY, Mrs. McIntosh served GINGER TEA CAKES (1 doz)

1½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon ginger
½ cup butter or other shortening
4 tablespoons brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup molasses
¼ cup boiling water

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, salt, and spices, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add flour, alternately with molasses, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add boiling water, mixing quickly to blend. Turn into small greased cup-cake pans, filling them ½ full, and bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool. Cover tops of cakes with butter frosting. Makes 2 dozen tea cakes. (All measurements are level.)

AND LOOK AT THE NEW CALUMET CAN! A simple twist...and the Easy-Opening Top lifts off. No delay, no spilling, no broken finger-nails! And inside there's a special, convenient spoon-leveller!

All Calumet prices are lower! Calumet is now selling at the lowest prices in its history . . . The regular price of the Full-Pound Can is now only 25c! And ask to see the new 10c can . . . a lot of good baking for a dime . . . with Calumet, the Double-Acting Baking Powder.

Anonymous Letter Linked to Case

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—The New York Daily News said today an anonymous letter indicating a possibility that Bruno Richard Hauptmann is innocent of slaying Charles A. Lindbergh's kidnaped son is the center of a new investigation of the crime.

Review Decision May Come Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6— The supreme court is expected to make up its mind tomorrow as to whether to grant a review of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's conviction of killing the Lindbergh baby.

On Saturday, it is generally believed, the nine justices will gather at their usual roundtable conference, where such decisions are made. Veteran observers of the court say a review usually is allowed if three justices favor it.

If the decision is made Saturday, it will not be announced before Monday, when the court sits publicly.

Source of Ladder Wood Mystery

CHICAGO, Dec. 6—The source of most of the wood that made up the Lindbergh kidnap ladder was still a mystery today as New Jersey officials hinted a new inquiry into the famed abduction-slaying.

Only one piece of the ladder found outside baby Lindbergh's window has been traced directly to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, and no effort has been made to trace the remainder of the wood, Arthur Koehler, government wood expert from Wisconsin, disclosed in an interview.

The one identified piece, Koehler testified at Hauptmann's trial, was a piece of flooring from the convicted Teuton's attic.

Another piece was found to have come from the lumberyard at which Hauptmann was employed, Koehler said, but no proof was obtained that Hauptmann bought it or stole it.

SOY BEAN PROGRAM AT CLIMAX TODAY

duces better results, than the use of any one of them alone, he said.

In feeding livestock, farmers here in the corn belt must add some proteins to their grains, he said. Soy bean oil meal probably will lend itself most readily as a protein in this vicinity because it is made from a crop farmers in this vicinity can raise whereas all of the other proteins suitable for this purpose must be shipped in, he pointed out.

A ton of roasted soy bean oil meal, which is the residue after oil has been extracted from soy beans, is worth more to farmers for feeding purposes than a ton of raw soy beans, because the meal is palatable, Mr. Gerlaugh said. The raw bean is not relished by stock, he said.

In his talk last night, Dr. Ruddiman gave general information about the planting, cultivation, processing and commercial use of soy beans and told of experiments that are being made to adapt it to a still wider field of commercial and industrial use.

Almost anything in the food line can be made from soy beans, and some of the foods made from soy bean products are used extensively for medicinal purposes when other forms of diet aggravate a patient's condition, he said. He said soy bean milk has been particularly valuable for infants with whom cow's milk did not agree and who suffer from eczema.

Expressing surprise that the human food value of soy beans has not been more widely used in this country, he said there is virtually the equivalent protein of two pounds of meat found in a pound of soy beans, and that the beans are just as easily digested. Waffles made from flour that is half soy bean flour and half wheat flour "beat any you ever ate" and the same kind of flour is used satisfactorily in muffins, he said.

Much research is being done with lecethin, a solid of the consistency of butter composed of fat and protein, which is made from soy beans, he said. It formerly was obtained from brains of animals. It is now used to some extent in the chocolate used for coating candies, making the chocolate flow more freely and preventing discoloration of the chocolate, he said.

Good Rotation Crop

He told of the experience of the Ford Motor Co. in the raising of soy beans and of the crop from a farmer's viewpoint he said, "it isn't a gold mine, but it is a good rotation crop and because little cultivation is needed it helps with the farm labor problem."

He exhibited samples of a number of products made from soy bean oil meal in the Ford plant, saying a composition of 40 per cent meal had been used in the place of bakelite because it requires little work, such as polishing, to finish the parts made from it and the product has a higher insulating power.

Dr. Ruddiman's talk was preceded by a concert by the Harding High school band.

Seventeen entries in the soy bean exhibit contest for farmers had been made last night. Awards totaling $100 will be made Saturday. Those who placed entries include G. E. Foss of Marion R. F. D. No. 8, W. E. Beckel of near Waldo, A. J. Clark of near Caledonia, L. J. Douce of near Caledonia, William Bates of near Marion, C. H. Cluff of near Marion, J. P. Noblett of near Marion, O. E. Barks of near Marion, J. W. Lewellyn of 212 St. James street, Oliver Withrow of near LaRue, George Peterson of near Marion, Ira Williams of Ridgeway, E. W. Raisler of near Marion, J. P. Eichorn of near Marion and Elmer Williams of north of Marion.

Five hundred persons yesterday visited and inspected the plant of Old Fort Mills, company officials said. The plant will remain open for inspection and exhibits in The Star auditorium will be in place throughout the three-day program, to end Saturday.

NURSES LAY PLANS FOR GLEE CLUB

Plans for the organization of a nurses' glee club were outlined when a group of nurses of the city met last night at the home of Miss Emma Wehrle of 334 South Main street. The club will be formed under the auspices of the Seventh District association of nurses, and will be directed by Miss Wehrle. Membership in the club is open to all registered nurses in Marion and vicinity, Mrs. Juanita Peebles, president of the district group announced. A meeting will be held next Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. at the home of Miss Wehrle to which all registered nurses, whether members of the association or not, are invited.

Big Shipments of Christmas Trees Due Next Week

The holiday season will get into full swing next week when Marion's first big shipments of Christmas trees arrive.

Already there are some trees in Marion, received early this week to accommodate merchants and other business men who began decorating their business places for the Christmas rush of business.

Most of the trees in next week's shipments will be from Vermont and Maine, dealers said today.

Among the approximately 6,000 trees which will be sent to Marion will be about 2,000 from the southern Ohio hills. Two carloads are expected from the New England states.

Prices will range from 75 cents to $3, one dealer reported. These prices will prevail except for the diminuttive trees such as are used for table centerpieces.

TWO MEN ARRESTED BY MARION POLICE

picions of hotel employes were aroused at this time.

Shortly after 4 a. m. when Naylor checked out he went to the McDaniel Motor Co. where his car was stored. DeWees arrested him there. A few minutes later Lewis was awakened in his room and placed under arrest.

Under preliminary questioning the men said they had been employed in New York and Pennsylvania as bartenders and waiters. They were driving a coupe bearing New York state license.

Police expected to communicate with Detective Burdge late today after further questioning of the New York men.

ROBBERY SUSPECT GUARDED BY POLICE

their automobile with the motor running in front of the bank.

Sensing a holdup was in progress, he took out the ignition key, pocketed it, and set out to look for a gun.

"I went to four places and couldn't find one," he said.

"While I was running down the street, I met Graham and we ran back to the bank. The men were just coming out. Graham shot the one before he could even draw his gun. The other man dropped the money to the steps and started shooting. One of the bullets hit Graham in the ear.

"I snatched up the dead man's gun. I fired a couple of shots. I don't know whether I hit them."

Loave $9,000 to $10,000

Bank officials first thought the robbers had dropped all of $7,000 loot. A check showed the men left between $9,000 and $10,000 and escaped with $2,800.

The robbers seeing their car out of commission, commandeered one in which Mrs. Bertha Burdge of Miamisburg and her sister, Mrs. Edna Bowlin, were driving past. Mrs. Burdge deliberately wrecked the car a few minutes later.

"They made me drive," Mrs. Burdge said. "We were crossing a bridge at about 65 miles an hour as the men shouted to me to 'go faster, go faster'."

"The car started swinging. I suddenly determined to stop somehow and gave the wheel a jerk and over we went."

The men then commandeered a bakery truck, forcing Alex Janecke, the driver, to take them through Xenia and Yellow Springs. His assistant, Frank Cadem, jumped off in Xenia.

In Yellow Springs they released Jancke and commandeered Morelli's car.

Wounded Man Weakens

The wounded man by this time was growing weak.

Morelli drove them through Springfield, to south Charleston, then north of Columbus, finally into Columbus.

There they parked in a parking lot. The wounded man "Jimmy" stayed in the car with Morelli while the other, "Joe," went out to get new clothes and another automobile. "Jimmy" was covered with blood from his wound. Morelli said

A few minutes later "Joe" returned with a gray overcoat and brown hat for "Jimmy" and a light top coat and brown hat for himself.

He said he had bought a new car.

The highway patrol said about this time a new convertible coupe was stolen near the parking lot.

"Joe" forced Morelli to take $30 and released him. They disappeared and he drove to Springfield without notifying Columbus police.

Radio Alarm Broadcast

As soon as Springfield police notified Columbus authorities of Morelli's release a radio alarm was broadcast. But the robbers were believed to have left the city long since under the cover of Morelli's two-hour silence while he returned home.

Morelli, shaken and on the verge of a nervous breakdown, told Springfield police he had struck up a bit of familiarity with the two men. Of Italian extraction himself, he said both spoke Italian and one only broken English.

"Jimmy," he said, was about 24, 5 feet 10, 170 pounds, and a medium blond. "Joe" was about 27, 5 feet seven, 160 pounds, black haired and of dark complexion.

Marshal Graham had only a slight wound in the ear to show. He and the bank cashier, George Gates, both fired at the escaping pair.

To induce assembly plants to use more domestic labor and materials in automobiles the Belgian government has required import licenses for certain parts and accessories.

17 COUNTIES GIVEN MEAGER AID FUNDS

a personal plea to save the farmers "from bankruptcy and despair."

The bill went through by a one-vote margin. It had been defeated earlier by six votes. Speaker J. Freer Bittinger broke his usual practice of not voting and cast the deciding ballot.

A proposal for a referendum on a state lottery for revenue received approval of the house taxation committee. It would be voted on in the May primaries.

The senate taxation committee postponed indefinitely a hearing act for Tuesday on the Nichols bill to repeal the Armbruster-Lawrence road bonding act.

Study Sherrill Reports

House committees received assignments to study various sections of the Ohio government survey report and prepare bills to put recommendations into effect.

One of the final acts of the week was the passage of a bill to pay $500,000 for maintaining insane patients in Cuyahoga county private institutions. It went to Gov. Davey for approval after he had asked such action because the state is unable to care for all the patients with present state institution facilities.

Although the income tax bill is not conceded much chance to pass the senate this year, its sponsors in the house urged its enactment on the ground that the revenue produced by it would permit the exemption of food from the sales tax and that an income tax is a fair system of taxation, based on the ability of those taxed to pay.

Sales Tax to Continue Year

The first tax levied by the bill would be on incomes received in 1936. The revenue, therefore, would not start flowing into the state treasury until 1937, making it necessary to continue the sales tax on food for another year if the revenues of the state are to be maintained at the present level.

Many members of the legislature went to exempt food from the sales tax immediately but, fearing this cannot be done without crippling the schools, have indicated that they would vote to continue the sales tax, provided the income tax is enacted so exemption of food can be made at the earliest possible moment.

The income tax bill is so drawn as to compel approximately 175,000 public employes in Ohio, who are now exempt from the federal income tax, to pay to the state the same amount of tax that would be paid to both the state and federal governments by persons having equivalent incomes to private employment.

Two Added at First

This is done by adding the state tax to the federal tax and then subtracting the amount of federal tax paid as a credit.

There was no argument made against the bill although Fred Mourey, Republican of Summit, attempted to postpone action until all other tax bills had been considered.

The bill repeals the 6 per cent tax on the income from productive investments, as this income would be taxed at the same rates as other income, but it also levies a 3-mill tax on the value of productive intangibles and a 2-mill tax on the value of unproductive intangibles.

Labels Tax Fair

Ward said it was fair to tax intangibles both on their value and their income because other property is so taxed.

He pointed out that a real estate tax is assessed against the value of apartments and office buildings and that the income from these buildings also is taxed.

Ward made the principal argument for the bill, declaring there has been a continuous struggle since medieval times to shift the burden of taxes from those who haven't the ability to pay to those who can pay.

For the part of the net income which is in excess of the federal exemptions and which is in excess of the lower amount and not in excess of the higher amount of each bracket herein enumerated below, the percentum set opposite each shall be levied:

$2,000 to $3,000, 8 per cent; $3,000 to $4,000, 9 per cent; $4,000 to $6,000, 13 per cent, and so on up to $1,000,000 and up, 84 per cent.

To Tax Deductions

The bill next provides that the income deducted as a federal personal exemption shall be taxed, the first $1,000 at 1 per cent, the balance and the credit allowed for dependents at 1½ per cent.

From the tax thus computed the total amount of federal income tax due or payable for the same taxable year is deducted.

Then the state credits are deducted from the remaining tax. In the case of a single person an exemption of $10 of tax is made; the exemption is $25 of tax in the case of a married person and $4 for each dependent.

Davey Blames Legislature

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 6—Gov. Davey attempted today to place on the state legislature responsibility for the present relief crisis in 17 counties.

In a special message, he reminded the recessed assembly of the recommendation for relief legislation he made on Sept. 18 and said: "The present relief crisis is wholly unnecessary and positively inexcusable."

He asserted the legislature had ample time to prepare for relief needs, but had done nothing until the crisis was at hand. The same situation, he said, existed with respect to providing funds for payment of old age pensions.

"Only when the crisis appeared could we get action, and then it came quickly. I have tried to anticipate all of these problems. I hope the other necessary legislation on various subjects will meet a better fate," the governor said.

Davey asserted that because of "wide-spread misunderstanding," he intended to make the relief situation the subject of his radio address next Monday night.

DAVIS DECLARES AAA FRAUD OF TAXPAYERS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—The new deal's farm program was denounced in a brief filed with the supreme court by John W. Davis today as "a fraud of the rights of the taxpayers."

The one time Democrat nominee for President presented his brief shortly after John E. Hughes, a Chicago attorney representing a number of nut and candy companies, had assailed the legislation as unconstitutional and illegal creditory pillage."

The Davis document was presented preliminary to arguments on Dec. 16 on suits brought by Louisiana rice millers to test their right to obtain injunctions against paying process taxes.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS FOUR OHIO MINERS

Victims of Eastern Ohio Disaster All Married and Three With Families.

By The Associated Press

WOLF RUN, O, Dec. 6—A tired rescue squad brought the bodies of four victims of a gas explosion out of a Warner Collieries Co. mine early today after eight hours of groping in the fitful light of miners' lamps.

The dead, all married and three with families, were:

Joseph Boone and his brother Isaiah, both of Amsterdam, and Albert James and Robert Russell of Bergholz. Russell had been married less than a year.

Earl Morrow, secretary to the mine superintendent, said following a three-phase investigation a spark had apparently ignited a pocket of natural gas that seeped in the mine.

31 Others Escape

Thirty-one other men, members of the night shift, escaped through side passageways as a thundering roar rocked the depths. Morrow said only the fact that the men were well scattered through the main and side shafts averted a disaster.

Rescue squads from surrounding mines worked through the night to reach the entombed men. With the mine's lighting and transportation system wrecked, the squads were forced to work with miners' lights and flashlights.

Robert Featheringham, superintendent, said the men apparently had been killed where they worked.

The blast occurred about 8 o'clock last night.

James Berry, chief of the Ohio division of mines, District Inspector Thomas Reese of Salem, and E. L. Thrower of Cleveland, general manager of the company, investigated the blast with officials of the U. S. bureau of mines from Pittsburgh.

Wives, Relatives at Pit

Anxious wives and relatives crowded around the mine entrance while rescuers dug in the debris-filled pits. When word reached the surface the men were dead, hysterics] sobbing broke out.

The bureau of mines rescue squad was first to reach the bodies. The six members arrived shortly after 3 a. m. and led others to the scene of the explosion within an hour.

A group of men began immediately to make repairs, reinforcing the blasted section and cleaning out debris.

George Raboyzian, a mine motorman working 1,200 feet from the scene of the blast, was thrown clear of his motor. Two other workers a half mile away, Leonard and Christ Morton, reported they heard nothing of it.

SELASSIE'S PALACE BOMBED BY ITALIANS

Imposing an oil embargo on Italy, delayed dispatches disclosed.

They coincided, too, with Sir Samuel Hoare's address to the house of commons yesterday in which the British foreign secretary appealed openly to Italy for peace, to remove the cause for sanctions and their threat of other wars.

Answer to Peace Plan

This renewed campaign for conquest in east Africa—coupled with increased resistance to war penalties—would be Italy's answer to European peace proposals, Italian sources said.

Premier Mussolini's own program for an eventual end to the east African warfare became known, authoritatively Rome sources describing it thus:

1. A decisive victory over the Ethiopians.

2. A forcing of Emperor Selassie to capitulate to Italy's terms.

3. A presentation of the fait accompli to the League of Nations.

4. An end then to sanctions, and their resulting tension in Europe, with accomplishment of Italy's ends and a halt to the warfare.

OHIO GIRL WINNER OF DRESS CONTEST

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 — Clarabeth Zehring, 17, of Germantown, O., winner of the "best dressed high girl in America" title, has been active in 4-H club work for six years and won prizes with her first, but she never thought her costume would make her famous.

Clarabeth, a brunet, competed with 41 state style champions in the grand national championship. In the entire event dresses were entered by 200,000 girls.

Her recipe, she said today, is simple: "Select colors and clothes appropriate to your personality and the occasion. In making them, attention to details is very important."

Although this was the first time she ever attended a national congress of 4-H clubs, her pig entries won $42.30 in cash prizes for her at Montgomery county fairs in the last three years.

WALL STREET STOCKS SPOTTY

Mining and Specialty Issues in Demand but Others Recede Slightly.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 6—Mining and specialty issues were the attractive spots in today's stock market.

Profit taking was evident in other categories, especially in the rails, steels and motors. Recessions, though, were usually restricted to small fractions.

Among gainers of moderate amounts were U. S. Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, International Nickel, Kennecott, Anaconda, Associated Drygoods, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Howe Sound, American Smelting, National Cash Register, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Spiegel-May-Stern, Socony Vacuum, International Telephone, Delaware & Hudson, Great Northern, Western Union and Peoples Gas. A loss of a point was suffered by Chrysler and New York Central and Southern Pacific eased.

Montgomery Ward, Spiegel-May-Stern, S. H. Kress and a number of other merchandising concerns reported a substantial upturn in November sales over those of October. A number of regular and extra dividends were announced.

One of the most active stocks was Packard, one 27,000-share block changing hands at slight improvement. A. O. Smith moved up 6 points.

Louisville & Nashville and Great Northern were exceptions to the hesitant carriers with small advances. U. S. Steel, General Motors, and Union Pacific eased.

Call money renewed at ¾ of 1 per cent.
